

Phrases Quiz 10.14

1. Students receiving tele-education tend to be socially unadaptable, lacking the necessary interpersonal skills. A number of people have expressed a concern about the need for socializing as as part of the development of the complete person and the inability to take part in debate and discourse, which is thought to be essential for gaining a comprehensive knowledge of a subject.
社会适应性不强-- 人际交往技巧-社交--全面的知识
2. In traditional classroom, by discussing with the classmates and exchanging ideas with the teacher, students learn how to share the ideas or methods with each other and how to cooperate with each other to seek a better solution. However, students can not do so through tele-education. 寻求更好的解决方法
3. Traditional teaching method can bring appropriate pressure to students, which helps them to learn continuously. Both the limitation on time and place and the competition with others will benefit the students' motivation and their creativity.
限制-- 动机--创造力
4. Through the organized activities, children learn to care for others and seek assistance from others. 有组织的活动 --关心他人-- 寻求帮助
5. An online university will just create a greater problem than already exists, with students cheating / plagiarizing assignments, and academics pocketing vast sums to pass students who are not up to standard.
欺骗-- 不合要求
6. The child is deprived of socializing socializing with his / her peers on a daily basis. 被剥夺
7. The home-schooled child is at a disadvantage when it comes to experience in handling people and situations. 处于劣势
8. Some of the biggest downsides seem to be the potential for isolation, distraction and hindered social development. Some students say they would be bored without this interaction, and furthermore, and would find it harder to concentrate.
孤独--分心--社会活动受阻--互相沟通
9. Distance education is viewed by many teachers as just one other threat to their already tenuous levels of job security. 职业安全感
10. Many feel that distance education results in diminished levels of interaction, which in turn leads to lower motivation levels and academic performance.
动机水平下降 --学业成绩不佳
11. The child may have trouble making friends and adapting to different social circumstances later in life. 适应不同的社会环境
12. Playground fights. Vandalism. Shootings. Any act that physically or psychologically harms people or damages property in a school setting is considered school violence.
破坏公物-- 身体上--心理上--破坏财产

13. Clearly our schools and society face the same problems. It has become necessary for all people, not just educations, to be more aware of the problems. Although some intervention programs have been implemented and in some cases are very successful, it is becoming more apparent that these problems are going to continue and will have a direct consequence on our future in this country.

教育者--干预--实施

14. They create a disturbance, interfere with classroom instruction, and disrupt normal school.

干扰--妨碍--破坏正常的学校运作

15. Schools are often blamed for the ills of society, yet society has a major impact on our education system. The problems that schools are facing today are certainly connected to the problems that our society faces, including drugs, violence, and the changing of our family structure.

社会恶习-- 家庭结构的变化

16. Volcanic anger, no skills to vent the anger or ease the pain, no trusted adult to turn to, and accessibility of firearms all contribute to school violence.

发泄怒气--减轻痛苦-- 求助于-- 容易接触到

17. Obsessions with things like violent games and TV shows lead to violent acts.

沉迷于

18. Some children spend limited time with their families. They lack adequate emotional exchanges with their family members. They occupy themselves with activities that involve little social interaction, such as electronic games, television, and the Internet.

缺乏感情交流-- 社会交往--电子游戏

19. The school authorities should send the message that violence will not be tolerated in schools and that severe measures will be implemented in order to curb it.

容忍-- 严厉的措施--实施--扼制

20 Help others settle disputes peacefully. Start or join a peer mediation program, in which trained students help classmates find ways to settle arguments without fists or weapons.

解决纠纷-- 调解-- 解决争执